Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 23 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Another fine day, with plenty of warm sunshine, although hazier.

Today:
Any low cloud will quickly disperse to leave another fine day, with plenty of warm sunshine, although perhaps a little hazier than on previous days. Less hot compared to recent days. Breezier near the coast. Maximum temperature 25 deg C (77 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry with clear spells at first. However, cloud will increase from the south overnight to bring some heavy and thundery downpours by dawn. Feeling humid. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Saturday:
Early heavy and thundery rain will gradually clear northwards during the morning. However, there is the potential for severe thunderstorms to develop during the afternoon. Feeling warm and humid. Maximum temperature 24 deg C (75 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Becoming more changeable next week, with further heavy showers and thunderstorms likely throughout the period. Feeling cooler compared to recent days, with temperatures trending towards the average.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.